

ATHLETE IN YOU – PRIVACY POLICY

Your privacy is very important to us. To understand and better protect that privacy, “Athlete In You” (AIY) has instituted the following Privacy Policy with respect to information provided on its website and platform (collectively, “Website”).

Publishing Information

When you contribute to the Website by adding or editing information, you are “publishing” that information, which is considered a public act. Thus, you should assume that what you publish will be stored somewhere indefinitely. Published information may also be tracked by your network IP address used to access the Website.

Identification; Passwords; Email

By using the Website, you will be identified by your account user name, accessible only by your password. Your real name and other personal information will not be shared with anyone else, unless you authorize it. Thus, it is important to keep your password strong and secure. Your email address will also remain private through the Website; however, any response from your email address to AIY or others outside of the Website would otherwise reveal your email address.

AIY Use of Information

AIY will use the information you provide when establishing an account or registering for an event to complete the event and for internal statistical purposes. AIY does not sell such information to third parties. Except for the following instances, AIY does not share the information with third parties: permission from the user; subpoena or other legal mandate; to investigate complaints of abuse; to resolve technical issues; protecting the Website, users, or the public.

Data Security

Although AIY cannot guarantee you unauthorized access to your information, AIY will provide and continue to update as necessary, security measures to safeguard and secure the information provided on the Website.

Improper Use or Behavior

Upon notice or discovery of improper use or behavior of the Website, at its discretion, AIY will take those measures to address such abuse or improper behavior.

